Each photograph is produced to order and is available in two carefully selected finishes: as a Hahnemühle Fine Art Print on natural fibre paper or mounted on a Dibond aluminium composite panel.

Prints are produced on demand to avoid unnecessary stock and waste.

Printing options

Fine Art Print

My photographs are printed on Hahnemühle natural fibre paper using archival pigment inks for exceptional tonal range, long-term stability and outstanding longevity.
Archival pigment prints are designed to retain their quality for generations.

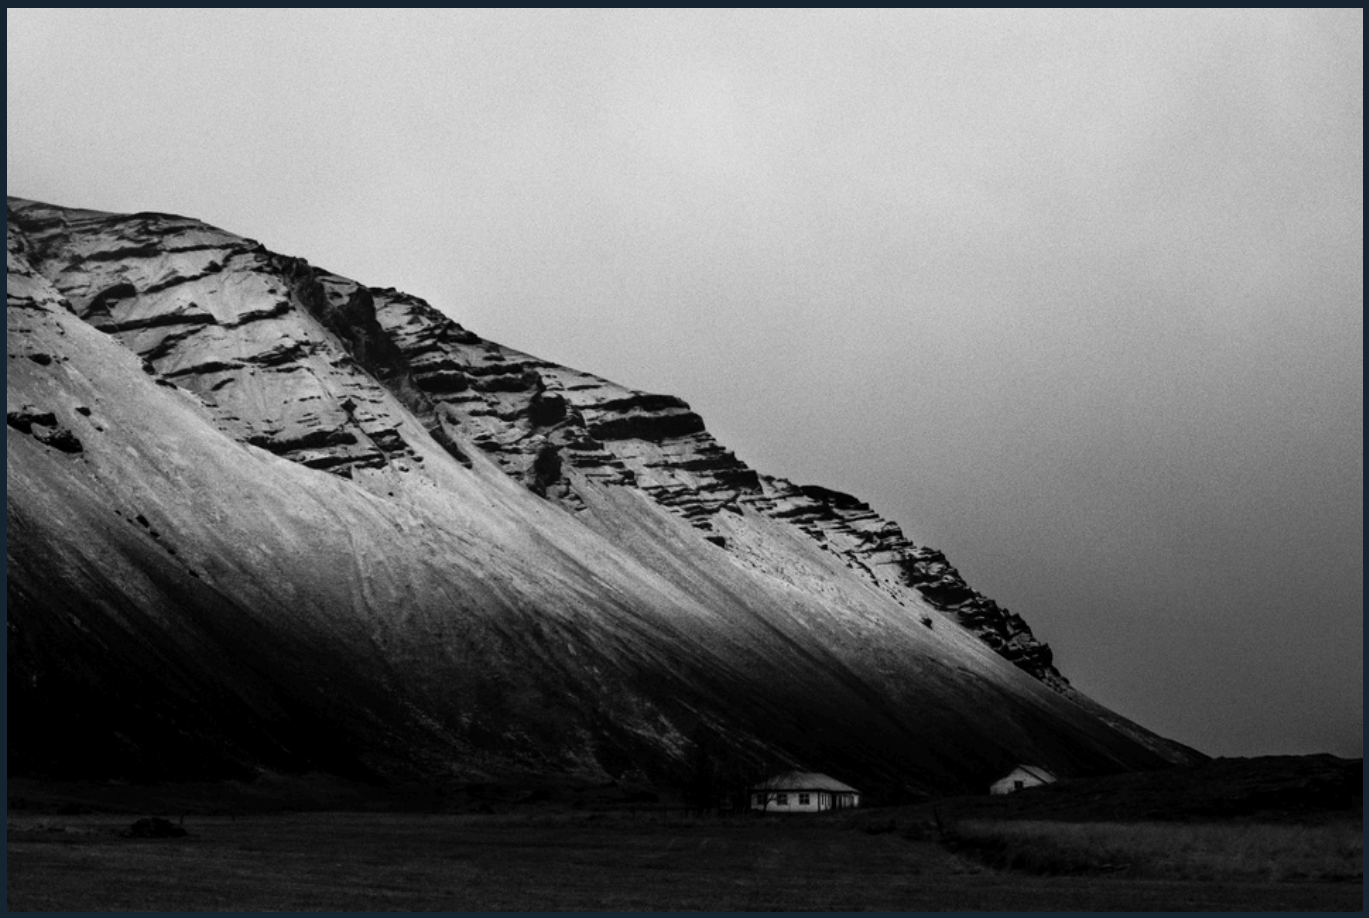

All information regarding the selected paper can be found here.
Please note that prints are supplied unframed.

Dibond

Mounted on a 3 mm Dibond aluminium composite panel with a concealed rear hanging system. Chosen for its exceptional rigidity and contemporary appearance, Dibond provides a durable presentation designed to last for decades. Its long service life helps reduce the need for replacement over time. The aluminium used in Dibond often contains recycled material and can be recovered through specialised recycling processes at the end of its service life.
